

CHANGE MANAGEMENT

from potential to performance

What is the most rigorous law of our being?

Growth. No smallest atom of our moral, mental or physical structure can stand still a year. It must grow; nothing can prevent it.

~ Mark Twain ~

INTRODUCTION

Never before has the speed of change been experienced as such a rapidly accelerating force. Organisations can be at a peak one day and in a state of decline the next if they do not recognize current change and anticipate environmental turbulence that can determine their survival. Successful organisations are able to manage this challenge by actively building resilience within their human resources - giving them the ability to pro-actively generate the change required rather than just respond to it.

WHAT CAN BLOSS OFFER?

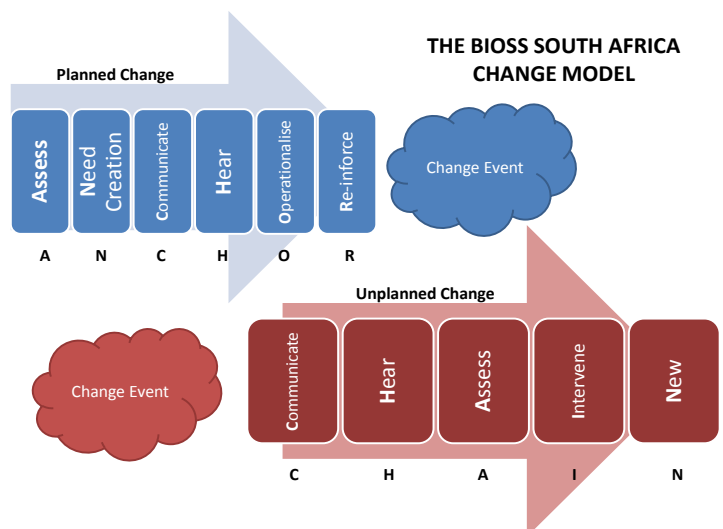

Core to the Bloss consulting approach is the Matrix of Working Relationships (MWR) - one of the most comprehensive and useful models of organisational behaviour and dynamics currently available. This model provides in-depth understanding of the types of responsibilities and challenges experienced at the various Themes of Work represented within any organisation. Using this understanding, Human Resources practitioners and Managers can be enabled to manage change and build resilience relevant to the specific challenges of each Theme of Work. The Bloss perspective of Change Management therefore focuses on assisting organisations and individuals to deal with the complexity created by the change, enabling the organisation to return to (or create) a condition where individuals experience flow, resulting in increased performance, health and overall organisational wellness.

- 2. Change Management Training: Assisting and training a management and/or change agent teams within the organisation to effectively manage planned and unplanned change events within the organisation and the community.
- 3. A combination of the above entailing the usage of the skilled Bloss consulting team initially, and then training up teams within the organisation to ensure sustainability and future viability.
